Jumponaut is a fast and fun game that improves your platforming and rhythm skills. Use the WASD keys to move forward and backward. Press Space to jump. Every level can be cleared in many different ways. To master the game, you need to discover your own strategy that fits your skill level. Game Modes Arcade The first game mode to play, where you advance through the game by clearing each level in the shortest amount of time. Arcade will display your highscore in seconds. Survival In this mode, you're running out of battery. Use the buttons to jump and to charge your battery by collecting energy cubes. If your battery is fully depleted, you lose. Survival's highscore will be displayed after the game. Co-op Co-op mode is split into two teams with the objective to protect your teammate as long as possible. The better you are, the more points your team gets. Reach end of game conditions (Power/Battery) and the game is over. The highscore will be displayed after the game. Versus Put your skill against the AI (artificial intelligence). It tries to clear as much as possible. Note: For all other game modes, the AI is fixed at the difficulty setting you select. The highscore will be displayed after the game. Controls Every key is considered to be pressed once. If you hold down a key, it counts as two "pushes". Pressing and releasing the same key counts as a single "push". Keys and their functions: WASD keys: Move direction. Keys A and D move forward, keys S and D move backwards. Press Space bar to jump. (NOTE: The space bar is assigned to jump in the WASD keys and it is always pressed.) LMB buttons: Move in the direction the cursor is pointing. Arrow keys: Move in the direction of the cursor. (also: Page Up/Page Down, Home/End) Target (T): Jump to/touch a platform. Hold to jump over it. Target (G): Jump to a secret area. Hold to jump over it. Target (S): Swing. Target (R): Ringbell/Pulse. Target (X): Jump while swinging. Target (/): Jump while ringing/

Jumponaut is a single-player and 2-player platform game (multi-player not implemented yet). The player controls a small creature jumping on spaceships, avoiding colliding with enemies or falling to the abyss. The speed, precision, grace and timing needed for jumping, movement and overcoming the difficulties of a tight, parallel world are what this game is all about. Game modes Arcade - an endless game mode. Score Rush - '''Run as fast as you can and catch the score which drops from the top of the screen while avoiding the enemies. Survival - The player is a zombie, trying to survive the longest, without being hit by the enemies. Extend Survival - Let the zombie survive the longest, using his batteries. Movements Jumping - The main mode of movement in Jumponaut is jumping. The player's jump height is always the same. Running - In order to stay alive, the player must move in a way that allows him to avoid enemy attacks. Swim - The player who avoids attacks can move freely in a pool of water. Enemies Enemy attacks are performed through keys on the keyboard and a jump/move out of water maneuver. Progression Actions that are performed without being interrupted by enemies: Jumping - You can jump a number of times with a certain distance from the ground. Running - You can run a little longer every time, by performing a jump. Swimming - You can swim a little higher in the water every time. Action that are performed with an interrupt by enemies: Racing - You can race to the other side without being interrupted by enemy attacks. Recharging - When you are hit by an enemy you lose a certain amount of battery. You recharge this battery by performing actions that are useful to you. Catching - You can catch a score, that drops from the top of the screen, while avoiding the enemies. Enemy attacks The length of each enemy's attacks is shown in the bottom of the screen. Sting - The player who is hit gets stunned and has no chances to perform any action, for a few seconds. Barrage - The player who is hit is continuously bombarded with multiple attacks. Turret - The player who is hit is blasted with a blast. Actions that are useful Gain d41b202975

Tiny Tower is a Tower Defence Game in the vein of games like Plants vs. Zombies. All you have to do is control an army of objects (tower defence stuff) to stop the invaders from getting past your maze to the tower. Your maze starts out small but your tower takes time to build, so your maze will quickly become bigger than your tower! But you can still add new towers to expand your defences, upgrading them as you collect crystals!Features & Properties a great game with simple controls and endless modesTiny Tower has it's own built-in currency, called crystals, which can be used to buy upgrades, new towers, guns, and crystals. But, even the cheapest tower costs $99.99. to buy! That means, you'll have to play the game for a while to make all that money!Custom-built engine: C++ & SDLGameplay Tiny Tower: Turned Tappers Artistic Keyboards is a complete music keyboard for the iPad, optimized for playing piano. You can access the Instrument Library to play any of the major and minor keys with different effects. But what makes it really special is the Synth Editor that allows you to use sound effects from many of the instruments to create your own sound. If you are not into playing piano or have not tried to make your own music, this is a great tool to learn about making music. But don't expect a simple user interface. It is much more complicated than it looks and has a lot of possibilities.Features & Properties easy to use interface with many featuresSynth EditorCreate music with your own soundEffects Road of Vanquished Emptiness is a 4X game set in the forgotten age of humanity, thousands of years before our own time. You must colonize and expand your colony and then one day your research tells you that "The moment of death has arrived." Suddenly, death becomes a very personal thing, but you are able to fight back and survive. There are no game overs, no load screens and no loading times. You control the game directly from the iPad.Features & Properties single player mode8 different empiresFull unit treeDestroy enemy basesGenocide missionsPurchase shipsResearch your computer in the science treeRobots: Machine brains that can do your biddingFight Zombies and other mysterious creaturesAutomobiles: You can use vehicles to drive through your enemies and through the landscape of space to explore new planetsDevelop cities and planetsObject management: You can build objects in your city to expand, but sometimes you must invade enemy cities

Jumponaut was a contest to determine the best stunt sky diver by judging the methods and style of entry from a designated altitude (usually to) above the chosen field, by one or more judges. The winner would be the highest jumper, and would usually be the most spectacular. History The first comparison contest, known as the "Kernel Hill Meeting" was held in 1925, by the brothers Bud and George Dahlke and John "Bucky" Nevins and arranged as a spur to drum up interest in Skydiving. The next contest was held by Jim Sturgess, Vern Pettey, "Big Bill" Wilson, Jim Blackburn and Dolan Shafer in 1942, watched by an estimated 150,000 at the Guyana Race Track, Georgetown, British Guiana. The winner was Sturgess. In 1947, with the full backing of the Mad Bomber and his business partner, Red Man (Gen. White), stuntman Eddie O"Fly" Schneider won the contest on August 6. In response to the challenge by Schneider, among the contestants were Joe Covey and Gordie Lessez. Each of them dropped via controlled hanging and the judge for form deemed Lessez "the real record breaker". At this point there was a feud among the participants. Schneider was mad as hell at losing to a non-professional, so he asked the other sky divers to take him to court in case he should win. This was done in November of 1947, the handling of which caused a delay of almost a year. The various sky divers, among them Covey, Lessez and Schneider, had pocketed various athletes over the years—and so an agreement was made. The "gate-keepers" were to go to court on Schneider's behalf and bring him on as a witness. Schneider did no more jumping after this game had been played out.
